Contents

Preface for the Third Edition . . . . . V

Preface for the First Edition . . . . . VII

PART A Introduction 1

1 Motivation 1
2 Goals 9
3 Procedure, Methods and Overview 11

PART B Concepts and Theories 19

4 Foundation 21
4.1 Knowledge management 21
4.1.1 From organizational learning to knowledge management 22
4.1.2 From data to knowledge management 39
4.1.3 From traditional work to knowledge work 46
4.1.4 Definition 52
4.1.5 Critique to knowledge management 58
4.2 Knowledge 60
4.2.1 History and related concepts 60
4.2.2 Types and classes of knowledge 66
4.2.3 Consequences for knowledge management 70
4.2.4 Definition 76
4.3 Knowledge management systems 82

4.3.1 Overview and related concepts 82
4.3.2 Definition 86
4.4 Résumé 91
5 Strategy 93
5.1 Strategy and knowledge management 93
5.1.1 From market-based to knowledge-based view . 94
5.1.2 Knowledge (management) strategy 104
5.1.3 Process-oriented KM strategy 108
5.2 Goals and strategies 114
5.2.1 Strategic goals 114
5.2.2 Strategic options 120
5.2.3 Generic knowledge management strategies . . . 129
5.3 Success factors, barriers and risks 132
5.3.1 Success factors 132
5.3.2 Barriers 136
5.3.3 Knowledge risks 136
5.3.4 Management of knowledge risks 140
5.3.5 Empirical study: KnowRisk 146
5.4 Résumé 150
6 Organization 153
6.1 Structural organization 158
6.1.1 Separate knowledge management unit 160
6.1.2 Knowledge management roles 162
6.1.3 Groups, teams and communities 177
6.2 Instruments 195
6.2.1 Definition 195
6.2.2 Product-oriented instruments 200
6.2.3 Process-oriented instruments 203
6.3 Process organization 207
6.3.1 Knowledge management tasks 207
6.3.2 Knowledge management processes 212
6.3.3 Example: Process-oriented KM 217
6.4 Organizational culture 221
6.4.1 Definition 221
6.4.2 Willingness to share knowledge 223
6.5 Other interventions 230
6.5.1 Overview 230
6.5.2 Example: FlexibleOffice 231
6.6 Modeling 237
6.6.1 Process modeling 240
6.6.2 Activity modeling 250
6.6.3 Knowledge modeling 257
6.6.4 Person modeling 262
6.7 Résumé 270

7 Systems 273
7.1 Technological roots 273
7.2 Contents 281
7.2.1 Types of contents 282
7.2.2 Maturity of knowledge elements 286
7.2.3 Size and media used 296
7.2.4 Structuring of contents 298
7.2.5 Quality of contents 299
7.3 Architectures and services 302
7.3.1 Knowledge management service 302
7.3.2 Service infrastructure 304
7.3.3 Integrating architectures for KMS 311
7.4 Centralized architecture 318
7.4.1 Overview 319
7.4.2 Infrastructure and integration services 322
7.4.3 Discovery services 322
7.4.4 Publication services 326
7.4.5 Collaboration services 327
7.4.6 Learning services 331
7.4.7 Personalization services 333
7.4.8 Access services 334
7.4.9 Example: Open Text Livelink 336
7.5 Distributed architecture 341
7.5.1 Peer-to-peer metaphor 341
7.5.2 Peer-to-peer knowledge management systems . 342
7.5.3 Example: Infotop 349
7.6 Classification 361
7.6.1 Knowledge Tools 361
7.6.2 Classes 369
7.7 Semantic integration 374
7.7.1 Semantic Web 375
7.7.2 Meta-data management 379
7.7.3 Ontology management 387
7.8 Résumé 390
8 Economics 395
8.1 Expenses and funding 397
8.1.1 Expenses for knowledge management 397
8.1.2 Expenses for knowledge management staff ... 399
8.1.3 Funding 399
8.2 Benefits of knowledge management initiatives 399
8.2.1 Intellectual capital approach 400
8.2.2 Measuring knowledge transformations 401
8.3 Information systems success 402
8.3.1 A multi-faceted construct 403

8.3.2 The DeLone/McLean model 405
8.3.3 Critique and extensions 407
8.4 Success of knowledge management systems 410
8.4.1 System quality 413
8.4.2 Knowledge quality 414
8.4.3 Knowledge-specific services 416
8.4.4 System use 417
8.4.5 User satisfaction 419
8.4.6 Impact on individuals 421
8.4.7 Impact on collectives of people 423
8.4.8 Impact on the organization 426
8.5 Résumé 428
9 Summary and Critical Reflection 434

PART C State of Practice 437

10 Related Empirical Studies 439
10.1 Surveys 439
10.1.1 APQC 439
10.1.2 ILOI 440
10.1.3 Delphi-Group 440
10.1.4 Ernst & Young 441
10.1.5 Journal of Knowledge Management 442
10.1.6 Fraunhofer Institute Stuttgart 443
10.1.7 KPMG United Kingdom 443
10.1.8 Fraunhofer Berlin 444
10.1.9 Journal Personalwirtschaft 445
10.1.10 Fachhochschule Cologne 445
10.1.11 KPMG Germany 446
10.2 Case studies 447
10.3 Résumé 448
11 Research Design 450
11.1 Goals and research model 450
11.2 Methods, procedure and sample 453
11.3 Hypotheses 455
11.4 Respondents and response rate 461
11.5 Résumé 465
12 Strategy and Environment 468
12.1 Organizational and business environment 468
12.1.1 Size of organizations 468
12.1.2 Organizational structure 470
12.1.3 Résumé 471
12.2 Strategy 471

12.2.1 Targeted goals 472
12.2.2 Achieved goals 475
12.2.3 Documentation and evaluation 477
12.2.4 Résumé 480
13 Organization 482
13.1 Organizational design 482
13.1.1 Scope 482
13.1.2 Structural organization 492
13.1.3 Knowledge management tasks and roles 498
13.1.4 Résumé 507
13.2 Organizational culture 511
13.2.1 Willingness to share knowledge 512
13.2.2 Turnover in employees 520
13.2.3 Résumé 522
14 Systems 524
14.1 Platforms and systems 524
14.1.1 Groupware platforms 525
14.1.2 Knowledge management systems 526
14.1.3 Résumé 530
14.2 Contents 532
14.2.1 Types of contents 532
14.2.2 Size and media used 540
14.2.3 Structuring of contents 544
14.2.4 Résumé 547
14.3 Functions 548
14.3.1 Integrative functions 550
14.3.2 Interactive functions 553
14.3.3 Bridging functions 555
14.3.4 Extension and intensity of KMS use 558
14.3.5 Résumé 562
15 Economics 564
15.1 Funding 564
15.1.1 Expenses 564
15.1.2 Type of funding 567
15.1.3 Résumé 568
15.2 Benefits 568
15.2.1 Support of business goals 568
15.2.2 Success factors and barriers 572
15.2.3 Usage of KMS and services 575
15.2.4 Correlations with goals 575
15.2.5 Résumé 579

16 Summary and Critical Reflection 581

PART D Conclusion and Outlook 591

17 Scenarios 592
17.1 Knowledge management starter 599
17.2 Centralized “market and hierarchy” 603
17.3 Decentralized “network and community” 608
17.4 Personal “idea and individual” 613
18 Outlook 621

List of Figures 631

List of Tables 635

Bibliography and On-line Resources 639

19 Literature 639
20 On-line Resources 710

Index 713